Message from Faculty of Engineering

Have you ever thought of starting your own business? While having an innovative idea, however, do you hesitate to start your business considering the numerous challenges that you might face? Even if you have started, do you find it difficult to go further?

To enable engineering students to gain more understanding about entrepreneurship as a career option, the Faculty of Engineering is co-organising an Introductory Seminar of Incu-Tech Programme with Hong Kong Science & Technology Parks (HKSTP). Operated by HKSTP, the Technology Business Incubation (Incu-Tech) Programme has been established with an aim to assist technology start-ups in their vulnerable inception stage. Incubation companies are entitled to around HK$1 million of subsidies, which cover the expenses of all services and supports as stated below during the three / four-year incubation period.

- Tapping in Expertise from University & Industry
- Networking and Collaborations
- Legal Consultancy Referral Service
- Promotion and Development
- Reduced Rental for Office Space
- Shared Office Equipment
- Training and Seminar
- Talent Pool Development
- Business Matching Service
- Financial Aid Package
- Advanced R&D Equipment

Seats are limited, first-come-first-served!
